Fonkalsrud Quits Hospital Post; New Yorker Named Superintendent

16-Year Service Will End

Plans Long Vacation

Retirement of Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud as superintendent of Mansfield General hospital and the employment of Wayne A. Copeland of Warsaw, N. Y., as his successor, effective July 1, was announced today by Edward Loughridge, chairman of the hospital board.

Dr. Fonkalsrud, who has headed the hospital for 16 years, said he planned to take an extended vacation, probably on his farm near Minneapolis, then to return to Mansfield.

He said he would serve as a hospital consultant, a field he pursued for 10 years before coming to Mansfield. He is 74.

Copeland, 45, has been administrative head of the Wyoming county Community hospital at Warsaw since 1929, with the exception of about two years in service.

ACTION LONG PLANNED

He is a member of the Kiwanis club, the Masons, the American Hospital association, the New York State Hospital association and the American College of Hospital administrators. He is married and the father of one son.

Dr. Fonkalsrud long had planned to retire. He informed the board two years ago that he would like to be relieved at this time.

"I've been connected with hospitals for more than 40 years," he commented, "and I think it's about time I had good rest and vacation."

SIZE TRIPLED

When Dr. Fonkalsrud came to take over the General hospital post more than 16 years ago, it was only a 70-bed institution. Since then, it has been expanded to a 210-bed hospital, with the latest in modern equipment and appliances.

Building additions have represented an expenditure of about $450,000, all procured without a campaign or fund drive of any kind.

Construction projects have included the private room pavilion to the west, an addition to the south end of the old and main building, where a new kitchen with modern facilities was installed, and an entirely new front entrance, with newly equipped waiting rooms.

It also has included an extension to the heating plant building and the nurses' home which now has a capacity for 60 student nurses.

The X-ray department, laboratories, maternity wards and emergency rooms have all been improved to include some of the finest and most up-to-date equipment in the state.

Taft's Fight For Ohio Aid Nearing End

Senator Seeks Solid Support

(By United Press)

The grueling campaign Sen. Robert A. Taft has conducted in Ohio for the past two weeks is near an end.

The Senator, fighting for solid backing of the state's 53 national GOP convention delegates, arrived in Cleveland for the closing phase of his campaign after speaking at a five-state conference on UNESCO at Kent State university.

Taft spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Cleveland City club at noon—the same group addressed by Harold E. Stassen, Taft's only Ohio opposition, last Saturday.

The senator will speak at the St. James forum in Cleveland tomorrow and then return to his home city, Cincinnati. He will end his campaign with a broadcast Monday night, election eve, from there.

Stassen, who has scored victories in Wisconsin, Nebraska, and Pennsylvania, will return to Cleveland Monday for his final appeal for delegates.

At Akron last night, Taft declined to take a stand on proposals expected to be introduced in Congress next week to revive shipment from this country of arms to any nation whose freedom is vital to the United States.

Tax Slash Now Reality

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The $4,800,000,000 a year tax cut becomes a hard cash reality for many taxpayers today.

A boost in retail buying was expected as wage earners paid off today found less money withheld from their paychecks for taxes—regardless of when the money was earned.

Those paid today are the first of more than 50,000,000 taxpayers getting a take-home pay raise at government expense.

The law, passed by Congress last March over President Truman's veto, dates the lower withholding tax back to the start of the year. But the government won't grant refunds until final 1948 income tax returns are filed early in 1949.

The 7,400,000 persons freed from all income taxes by the new law will have to wait like others to get back the money withheld from their paychecks from January through April.

Revives Police Unit

Mansfield's auxiliary police are going to be reorganized for disaster duty.

Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab has called a meeting of all former members of the organization in Mansfield for 7:30 p. m., Monday in the municipal courtroom at the city building.

Chief Schwab, who was civilian defense commander in Mansfield during the war, directed the activities of about 120 auxiliary policemen before they were disbanded in 1945.

He said he hopes to get most of the former auxiliary members back into service, ready for such disasters as storms, floods, fires, and train wrecks.

The auxiliary members will have no official capacity, serving only as aids to police and fire department members in emergencies.

Woman Saves Drowning Boy

CLEVELAND —(AP)— "Lady, there's a boy drowning in the creek," the little girl said casually to Mrs. Gloria Calisch.

Mrs. Calisch, a 23-year-old brunette, immediately abandoned her four-month-old son at Wade park yesterday and plunged into the waters of Doan creek to save a struggling seven-year-old boy.

She reached the boy, pulled him to the bank and wrapped him in her coat. Alfred L. Gettes, the rescued child, admitted his mother had warned him not to visit the park, but he had disobeyed her and slipped into the creek from the bank.

British Blocked In Jaffa

Jewish Troops Defy Ultimatum

JERUSALEM —(UP)— Jewish troops today defied a British threat to blast them out of Jaffa if they did not give up hard won gains in the Arab city, posing new problems in the struggle of the British to liquidate their Palestine mandate within exactly two weeks.

Britain's bitterest enemies in Palestine, the Irgun Zvai Leumi underground fighters, rejected a British ultimatum to clear out of the Mansheih quarter of Jaffa. If the British wanted to fight it out there, they were ready, the Irgunists said.

The British failure to end the siege of Jaffa complicated their overall strategy of laying down the mandate May 15. They had proposed to fall back on Haifa, the port of embarkation. Now the Jaffa battle, with a British garrison caught squarely in the middle, threw the timetable out of kilter.

While bloody fighting raged at Jaffa, the struggle over Palestine went on in other sectors.

Jewish sources in Tel Aviv said Syrian army forces attacked three Jewish settlements in the border area. One of them was the often-assaulted Dan in extreme northeastern Palestine, the northern limit of the Old Testament Holy Land.

ATTACK REPORTED

The reported attack, in the border area where many such minor forays have been made, apparently prompted reports of an "invasion" of North Palestine by Arabic forces. A United Press correspondent flew over the border area and saw no sign of any invasion. He and Arab sources in the Levant discounted the Tel Aviv report.

(The British war office said it had no confirmation that Palestine had been invaded by any Arab state. In Cairo, the defense minister denied a rumor that Egyptian forces had invaded Palestine.)

The Zionist militia Haganah claimed the complete conquest of the Katamon quarter of Jerusalem.

The Jews hammered the Arab secton of southwest Jerusalem for 24 hours, and supported the attack with diversionary blasts at the Arabs at a number of points in and around the city.

After scoring their first big victory in the battle of Jerusalem, Haganah gave no immediate sign of what it would undertake next.

Order Cuts Gas Supply

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Federal Power commission has ordered a 25,000,000 cubit feet a day reduction in natural gas supplied Ohio Fuel Gas company by Panhandle Eastern Pipeline company.

Acting on recommendation of its legal staff, the commission late yesterday cut Ohio Fuel's contract with Panhandle by 50 percent.

It also directed Texas Eastern Transmission company to continue supplying 20,000,000 cubic feet daily to the seven-state system served by Panhandle. The previous order for this diversion was to have expired last night.

If the commission had allowed the order to expire, most of this gas would have gone to the Columbia Gas system, of which Ohio Fuel and East Ohio Gas company are subsidiaries.

Commission attorneys recommended the cutbacks in Ohio supplies yesterday during a hearing.

Cool Week End In Prospect

If you're planning a picnic for tomorrow you'd better take a sweater.

The weatherman, after serving up a summery day last Sunday, predicted that tomorrow would be partly cloudy and cooler.

Showers were forecast for this afternoon and tonight. The mercury stood at 60 at noon today.

May Day Festivities Raise World Tension

(By United Press)

Traditional May Day celebrations around the world raised tension between communist and anti-communist groups today, marked by attempted assassinations in Greece and Korea.

A young laborer in Athens threw a bomb that gravely wounded the Greek minister of justice, Christos Ladas, killed one policeman and wounded another.

Athens Has Martial Law

ATHENS—(AP)—Martial law was proclaimed in Athens today.

Premier Themistokles Sophoulis said "austere measures" would be taken to meet the situation arising with the May day assassination attempt upon the life of Minister of Justice Christos Ladas.

The attempt on Ladas' life was made by a man who police said confessed he was under orders from a communist execution squad. A policeman was killed and the assailant was wounded in the attack.

The action proclaiming martial law was taken after a meeting of law enforcement chiefs and the army. The cabinet approved the step.

The May Day week end in Korea was touched off by another assassination attempt against the police chief of Seoul, T. S. Chang. Chang's bodyguards drove off the would-be assassins after they opened fire at Chang in front of his home.

American troops in the international zone of Trieste smothered communist demonstrations with strict regulations. Other Americans paraded through downtown Tokyo with loaded machine guns bristling from armored cars.

Radio Moscow reported the usual vast demonstration of military might in Red square, with Generalissimo Josef Stalin in attendance at one of his increasingly rare public appearances.

Stalin's son, an air major general, commanded the display of aerial might above the Soviet capital. His war minister made the major speech of the day, blasting "imperialists" and stressing the peaceful policy of the Soviet Union.

51 Absentee Ballots Cast

Fifty-one absentee voters' ballots were on hand today in the Richland county board of elections office, forecasting a heavy turnout of voters for Tuesday's primary.

Thomas R. Zeigler, board clerk, said the total exceeded any year except the 1944 presidential primary when a majority of the 99 absentee votes were cast by men in the armed services. Only one war ballot was cast this year.

Only 16 absentee ballots were cast in 1945, five in 1946, and six in 1947.

The deadline for absentee voting was today noon.

Police Hold Father of 35

CLEVELAND—(INS)—William Croft, 89, who claims to be the father of 35 children, was held by Cleveland police today for investigation in connection with a stabbing.

Croft, part-time employe, told police he had been married three times and that his oldest child was a boy, aged 69, and the youngest a girl, aged 11.

He was arrested for the reported stabbing of George Foster, 23, in a cafe last night. Police said he was "very spry."

Skies Damp For Derby

Arcaro Tangles With Court

LOUISVILLE, Ky. —(AP)— The Kentucky Derby and Eddie Arcaro ran into stormy weather today, but the skies were clearing for both.

The jockey, bidding for an unprecedented fourth Derby triumph, was arrested late yesterday on a disorderly conduct charge made his peace with the law shortly before noon today. The charge was dropped.

This left Arcaro free to ride the hottest favorite in Derby history, Citation. He argued too much with a traffic cop, but arguments on Derby eve are the rule rather than the exception, and Eddie did not appear to be "in the soup."

But for a while it looked like the Derby was going to be, for the scattered showers which the weather bureau had forecast turned into a heavy early morning rain, which left the Churchill Downs racing strip muddy.

After four hours of heavy rainfall, however, the sun came out and there was a chance that the track would be dry and fast at Derby post time (about 5:30, Mansfield time).

Galion Milk Price Drops

GALION—The price of milk went down one cent today. Galion dairies announced a new price of 19 cents a quart for regular milk and 20 cents for homogenized milk. Coffee cream will sell for 19 cents and whipping cream for 35 cents a half pint. There will be no change in the price of cottage cheese.

Regular milk has been 20 cents a quart in Galion since last Jan. 1.

BUS STRIKE THREATENED

SPRINGFIELD—(INS)—Springfield was threatened with a strike of city bus drivers. Union drivers and mechanics voted unanimously last night to leave their jobs in support of demands for a wage increase.

Seek to Reduce Highway Accidents

Truckers Push Safety Campaign

With the object of promoting safer driving, members of the local AFL teamsters union will meet Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at 44 West Sixth street to hear talks and view films on safe driving.

Cpl. J. L. Bishop of the state highway patrol will be the principal speaker at the meeting sponsored jointly by Local 40 of the AFL teamsters union and the Ohio Over — the — Road association, a employer group.

Rudy Schneider, secretary-treasurer of the union, said, "the principal object of the meeting is to protect our own membership. Most of our drivers are safe drivers, but no matter how much experience one has, something new can always be learned."

"Several of our men have been injured recently, some seriously enough to lose their jobs, and we want to protect our men from that sort of thing," he said.

He said this meeting was part of a joint state-wide employee-employer safe-driving campaign being conducted in local communities.

The truck drivers will see two films on traffic safety shown by Richard Boose, of the Norwalk Truck line.

Schneider said Boose has driven trucks from Norwalk to Pontiac, Mich., for 15 years without an accident.

They Equip Rooms, Then Pay More

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The Columbus area rent control office uncovered a new "meanest man" candidate today.

Officials reported a southside landlord as a condition of rental forced an elderly couple to sell him their stored furniture at a "ridiculously low figure."

The furniture was appraised at $1,000. The landlord offered $150. The landlord then furnished the apartment with the same articles and raised his rent $20.

Burglars Get $300, Car, Tools

Service Station, Home Entered

Burglars were busy in Mansfield last night and early today, getting nearly $300 in cash, a car, and some tools.

Robert Barker, manager of the Pure Oil station, 36 South Main street, told police that he found $211 missing from the cash register when he returned to the station at 11:15 p. m. yesterday to check out.

Barker said an employe, William Wheatley believed entry was made through the men's wash room door, left unlocked when Wheatley closed the station at 10:20 p. m. Wheatley added that two "young fellows had been hanging around using the telephone for about 20 minutes before he closed the station.

Detectives began an investigation of a theft of $70 from the home of Mrs. Mary E. Rice, 99 East Dickson avenue. Mrs. Rice said she believed the money was taken from the bedroom of her son, Raymond.

William P. Cole of Lexington reported his 1941 blue Plymouth coupe, license VW-695, was missing from East Third street last night. Cole said he took the car keys with him and that the car was locked.

Martin Spree, employe of the Mansfield Structural Steel company, reported to police that a regulator, cutting torch and hose had been taken at the Empire Steel corporation plant.

Ohio Has Few Little Red Schools

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The little red school house in Ohio soon may become only a memory.

Dr. Clyde Hissong, state education director, reported today Ohio now has only 496 one-teacher schools in operation. Years ago the state had around 10,000 one-teacher schools.

A report on the status of the one-room school where one teacher instructs all the grades was given Dr. Hissong by Robert L. Rohe, state director of school finance.

"In the elimination of small and unsatisfactory attendance units the record in Ohio is a commendable one," Rohe said in his survey.

Dr. Hissong said Ohio was far ahead of many other states in replacing one-room schools with modern education plants. Illinois, for instance, still has 10,000 one-room schools, Hissong added.

Divorce Suit Cites Gaming

Gambling now flourishing in Mansfield apparently has threatened to break up a home, a petition for divorce filed yesterday shows.

Mrs. Leora Knackstedt, 183 East First street, filed the divorce action, charging her husband, Kenneth, with neglect and cruelty. She asserted he squandered money on intoxicating liquors and gambling and that she was compelled to support herself.

British Seek Air Crash Damages

LONDON—(AP)—Britain has delivered to Moscow a claim for compensation for the lives of 11 persons killed in the collision of a British transport and Soviet fighter plane over Berlin. The claim also seeks compensation for the transport, its baggage and freight, the foreign office said today.

The collision occurred April 5. A British investigation blamed the Soviet pilot; a Russian inquiry said the British plane was responsible.

Mediator Expresses Optimism

Sees Chance For Compromise

CHICAGO —(AP)— There appears a possibility of heading off the crippling nationwide railroad strike set for May 11, says the federal mediation chief.

Commenting on the efforts of the National (Railway) Mediation board to effect a settlement between the carriers and three operating unions, Chairman Frank P. Douglass said:

"There is a possibility that we might be able to make some recommendations that are not already included in the emergency board's report which might stave off the strike."

He said he had found "a sincere disposition on the part of both sides to try to find a settlement."

Railroad representatives met with the board yesterday after the three unions huddled with the conciliators on Thursday. Today separate meetings with both sides were called by the conciliators.

"We have in mind the principal points on which they are apart and we are now trying to reconcile these points of view," Douglass told newsmen.

THINKS PROGRESS POSSIBLE

"The carriers still take the position that they will bargain within the framework of the emergency board's report. We think the atmosphere is such that progress can be made.

The "big difficulty" in the long-standing wage dispute, Douglass said, is the demand by the three unions for more pay than recommended by a presidential fact-finding board.

The brotherhoods—engineers, firemen and enginemen and switchmen — with a claimed membership of 190,000 key rail workers, sought a wage increase of 30 per cent with a minimum hike of $3 a day and changes in working rules.

The board proposed a pay boost of 15½ cents an hour, which had been accepted last fall by other rail brotherhoods. The carriers, Douglass said, refuse to grant the three unions a bigger wage hike than the other railroad workers received.

Dem Rivals Hurl Words

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Frank J. Lausche and Ray T. Miller turned on the steam last night in their contest for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Lausche told his backers to "beware of last minute desperate attacks" by his opponent's supporters.

If Lausche is nominated, Miller claimed, Democratic voters will have to accept the blame for defeat of every party candidate in the 88 coutnies.

Miller also ripped into Lausche's administration of the state liquor department.

Miller said Lausche ignored the party in making appointments and suffered thereby.

Lausche set up his own machine, Miller said, which was made up of "visionary amateurs and greedy individuals."

ADOPTS FAST TIME

CONNEAUT —(AP)—The village council of suburban Lakeview yesterday officially adopted daylight saving time after unofficially following the pattern set by Conneaut in switching to the "fast" time last Sunday.

Taft, Stassen In Pictures And Stories

The News-Journal tomorrow presents a page of pictures and sketches of all state candidates seeking nomination in the Ohio primaries Tuesday. The page features non-partisan stories of Robert A. Taft and Harold E. Stassen, whose political destinies well may be decided next week.

Did you ever wonder how wells are dug? A N-J staff writer and photographer bring you the inside story of the art of well digging. Another feature of interest to Mansfielders is a description of an area firm's experiment in building a "yacht on wheels."

A story from Louis Bromfield's Malabar farm tells how soil conservation pays off in dollars and cents. In another absorbing story, Ohio's fire marshal describes how investigators crack arson cases — a crime that's tougher to uncover than murder.

Monday Set for Start On Hull Road Bridge

Building of the new Hull road bridge will begin Monday, County Engineer Walter E. Rusk reported today.

Rusk said a contract was entered into with the Purdy Construction company after bids twice were rejected because they were over the estimates.

The agreement calls for the Purdy company to furnish the labor and equipment at a cost of $2,300.

Rusk said the grading and road surfacing would be done by county forces. Materials for the timber bridge, with a steel deck, will be furnished by the county.

Overall costs of the bridge will be within the original estimate for the job, Rusk said. Work is to be completed by July 1.

Bridge Floor Placed

The floor has been placed on the Amstutz road bridge and it is now open to traffic,Rusk reported. He added that the railing would be put on Monday or Tuesday.

Rusk said that since no bids were received for the county to purchase road oil and patching materials, these would be purchased on open accounts. County commissioners have authorized the purchase, according to the preliminary cost estimates.

Venders were reluctant to bid, Rusk pointed out, because they must put up a performance bond." They explained that they are not certain they will be able to obtain the materials from producers.

Some patching materials have been purchased on quotations, Rusk said, and road oil will be bought later.

Give $575 To Build New Church

Lutherans Help Mt. Zion Members

Members of the First Lutheran church will go to Lucas tomorrow morning to present to members of the Mt. Zion Lutheran church a cash gift of $575 which was collected from three groups of the church within the past month.

The gift will be presented to help members of the church rebuild their church home, which was destroyed by fire last winter. The gift will be presented during services at the Lucas school.

The gift will include $400 from the church proper, $100 from the Sunday school and $75 from members of the Luther League.

It will be presented by representatives of the three groups—C. K. Dye, of the church council; Richard Wolford, superintendent of the Sunday school, and Richard Hunt, president of the Luther League.

Tomorrow has been chosen as the day for the presentation, according to Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor of the church, because it is Regate Sunday or Rural Life Day in the Lutheran church.

Load Makes Bridge Fall

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A 75-foot section of a Route 665 bridge over Big Walnut creek eight miles south of Columbus collapsed today under a 30-ton load of steel.

The truck was driven by Gay Compston, 37, of Coal Grove, O., enroute from Ashland, Ky., to Bucyrus. The 12½ ton tractor-trailer mas loaded with 17 tons of steel.

Route 665 was being used as a detour for Route 23 because of the Route 23 bridge over Big Walnut was being re-floored. Because of the accident, highway crews intended to re-open the Route 23 bridge later today.

The pin connecting the tractor to the trailer sheared off when the trailer plunged through the macadamized bridge floor. This fact, said Highway Patrol Sgt. A. B. Cooke, probably saved Compston's life as the tractor remained on the bridge.

Fifty feet of the bridge fell to the creek valley floor while 25 additional feet was tilted at a precarious 45-degree angle.

Patrolman L. G. Ridenour said the truck, owned by the Farson Motor Lines, "apparently had a legal load." As a result, no charges were filed.

Highway engineers had not determined immediately whether to make temporary repairs or to block off the roadway until permanent repairs could be undertaken.

Peter Gunder, president of the Brotherhood, will preside. Refreshments will conclude the evening.

TEMPLE EMANUEL—Dedication planned for early autumn.

Temple Emanuel To Seat 250 Persons

By NITA BRANSON

When members of the Temple Emanuel dedicate their new church on Cook road, near Lexington avenue road, next fall, they will have a two-story red brick building of the latest fireproof design with modern acoustical equipment and large enough to seat 250 persons comfortably.

Members hope the dedication can be held in September, Carl Goettinger, treasurer of the church, said today.

"But we don't know," he said. "The pews are holding us up."

The pews, ordered from a Tiffin firm, each will have a seating capacity of about seven persons. Fourteen will be placed in the temple. These, with the addition of chairs, will give the temple congregation adequate space for many years to come for their church activities.

On the first floor of the 40 by 70 building is a social room, which members now are using for church services, a modern and completely-equipped kitchen, Sunday school rooms, women's rest room and boiler room.

BEAUTIFUL ALTAR

When the church is completed, there will be on the second floor the church sanctuary proper, more Sunday school rooms, a rabbi's study, choir loft, men's wash room and small meeting rooms.

The altar of the church already is installed.

"It is a beautiful thing of solid light oak, kiln dried," Goettinger said. "Carpenters who installed it said it is one of the finest pieces of wood they've worked with in a long time."

Fluorescent lighting will be installed on the first floor.

Lights on the second floor have a history. Originally, they were the huge bronze lights installed in the Farmers Savings and Trust company when the building was erected in 1929. This past winter, fluorescent lighting replaced the bronze lights in the bank and the bronze lights were given to the church.

"There are eight of them and they are beautiful," Goettinger said. "Of course we had to shorten the chains and do a little changing but they will certainly add to our church decorating."

ALTAR SPOTLIGHTS

The altar will have two big spotlights. Other lighting throughout the building will be modern and adequate.

Light oak woodwork is used throughout. Acoustical plastering has been used in the ceilings.

"You can stand in any corner of the rooms and hear what is being said, Goettinger explained.

General contractor for the church was Ludwig Zahn. The Charles Hoffman company did the roofing and boiler equipping, Virgil Chandler of Bucyrus, the plastering, and C. A. Swander the plumbing. All electrical equipment is being installed by the Buchman Electrical Construction company and the tile asphalt floors have been laid by the Charles Schroer company. Norman Kann was the architect. The Ohio Welding and Boiler company did the steel work.

Landscaping of the ground around the church will be done next fall. A driveway will encircle the grounds and there will be parking space in the rear for 100 cars.

Cost of the building? Goettinger laughed when asked that question.

"Frankly, we don't know but it will be much more than we expected," he said.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, MAY 1, 1948

Drive carefully tomorrow—and remember to slow down in school zones on weekdays.

Prices quoted on some old residential properties have passed the point of being atrocious—they are now ridiculous.

Now mentioned as a possibility is a military rocket that will encircle the world in 30 minutes—a highly modernized boomerang, it may appear.

Surely You'll Find Time To Vote!

SUPPOSE, as was the case in Italy a few weeks ago, the RIGHT to vote at free elections was in danger of being taken away, as has already been done in some European countries now under Russian domination?

Then there would be such a rush to the polls next Tuesday as has never been witnessed in this country, where primary elections are sometimes neglected by many eligible voters.

But in Italy, where freedom was at stake, nearly 90 per cent of the people entitled to vote made sure that their ballots were cast—even the lame, the halt and the blind found ways to get to voting places and in Rome the vote of a 103-year-old woman was recorded.

In the United States the RIGHT to vote is taken for granted to such extent that some citizens neglect to take advantage of this precious privilege. Tuesday's primaries, which are preliminary to the November election, present a number of contests that justify interest by all qualified voters in both political parties and it is earnestly urged that the number of votes cast be sufficiently large to give assurance that the spirit of democracy is alive and active in this community and throughout Ohio.

Safety Demands Constant Vigilance

SAFETY PROMOTION pays dividends in lives saved. For eighteen years the Ohio State Safety council has striven to cut down accidents on the highways, in the home, in public places, and on the job. Here is one example of how it has succeeded.

In 1936 Ohio traffic accidents killed 7,164 people. Since 1936 the population has grown; there are many more autos and many more miles traveled per person. Yet in 1947 Ohio traffic fatalities numbered 5,330 or nearly 2,000 fewer than 11 years ago.

Had the rate of highway deaths continued through 1947 as it was in 1936, some 78,800 persons would have been killed. Actually the deaths totaled 20,000 less than that for the 11-year period.

Of course, the job is only begun. Accident deaths were higher in Ohio in 1947 than in 1946 by 125. And remember: 5,330 deaths represents the wiping out of a good-sized town. If the fatalities had been concentrated in one small area, the people would be up in arms against the disaster. It is time to mobilize opinion and action against even isolated accidents. They must be stopped before they happen. Don't take chances at any time—on the road, in your home, on the job. Do your part to make living safer.

How's a Gambler To Know 'Policy'?

QUITE ASIDE from the "out again, in again" police department policy in regard to commercialized gambling in Mansfield, there seems to be need for clarification of the matter, insofar as enforcement and non-enforcement of anti-gambling laws are concerned.

It appears that the laws on this subject cover the entire field of commercialized gambling, yet it seems odd to see various sorts of illegal gambling devices openly operated in some places and then to read about police raiding a "back room" poker game, with fines imposed on operators, players and spectators.

The big question, of course, following the raid, is whether or not operators of this particular place "arranged" to reopen after the lid was lifted following the February and March "discontinue" order. There is interest also in just how the "arranging" is done—as there is an appearance of partiality in present handling of the situation and it may be wondered what Chief of Police Schwab has discovered, now that he has had time to "check into it."

Unmistakable 'Signs of Spring'

WHEN BEES make a soft humming sound in the branches of the pink-flowering crabapple tree or a wasp wanders into the upstairs hall while you are trying to wash the screens and get them in place at the windows . . . when lawn sprinklers make a gentle swishing sound through the neighborhood and people bend intently over tiny furrows in the newly turned soil of their gardens . . .

When the shouts of children mingle in the early dusk with the strident rattle of roller skates and the paint brush competes (but not too effectively) with the golf club for your leisure time . . . when, in fact, there's nothing in the world you would rather be doing than lolling under a tree with a fishing line dangling into a clear pool of water . . . Then, folks, spring is positively here!

Louisville In Limelight Today

OF ALL the days in the year, this is the "big day" in Louisville, Ky., for this is the day for the 74th running of the Kentucky Derby, which holds place as the outstanding horse racing event in the country.

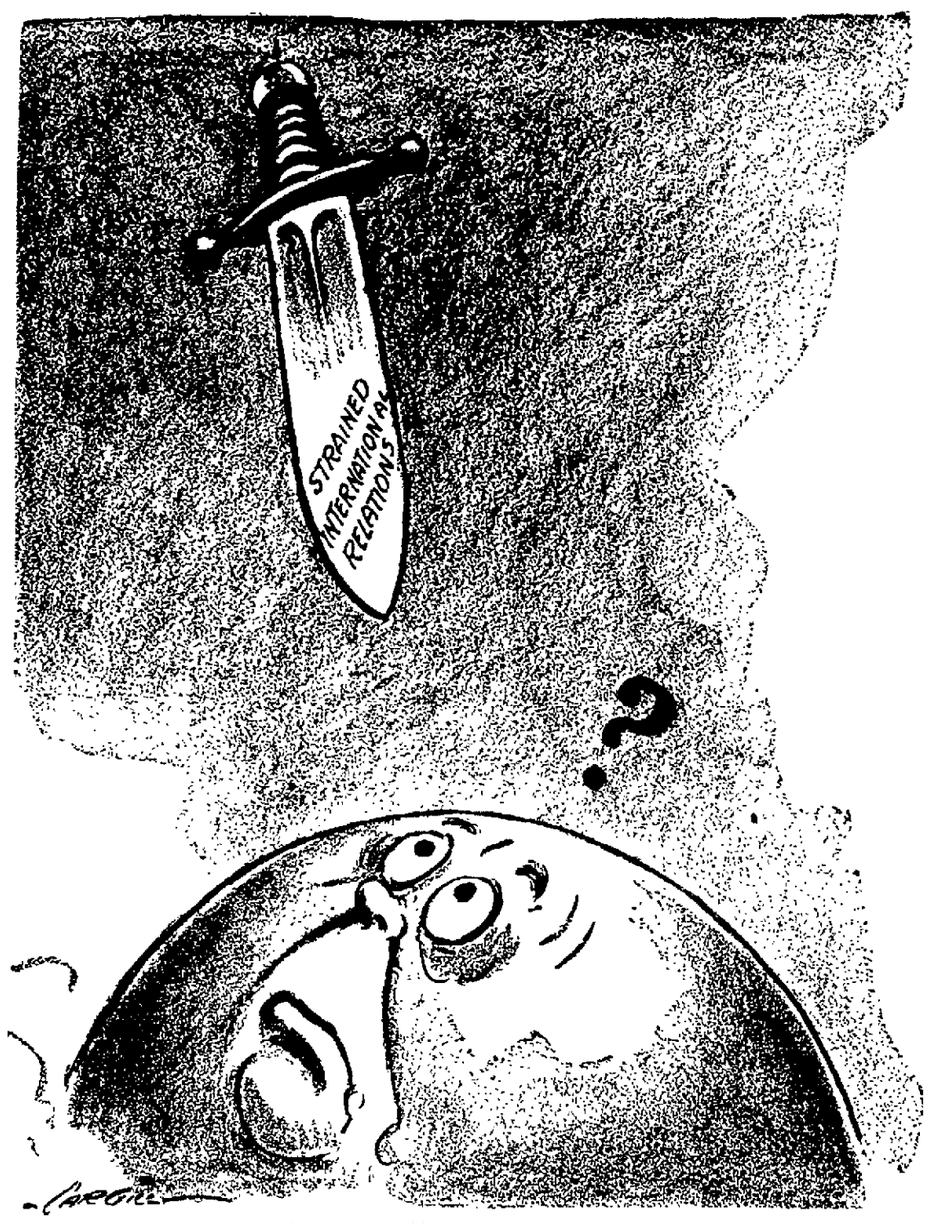
Louisville is an attractive and progressive city in its own right, but it is it's Churchill Downs race track that gains more national attention than any of its other features, with at least a one-day interest of more millions of people directed toward the Derby outcome than any other sports event of the year.

Thousands of racing fans trek to Louisville from all over the country to get the couple of minutes' thrill of seeing a group of superb horses contending for first place—and then, suddenly, it is over, but around Louisville they'll be talking about this Derby for a half year . . . and then they'll start talking about the next one.

Novelist and Poet In High Places

A PRESIDENT who is a novelist has appointed a foreign minister who is a poet. Only a country of high civilization would put such value on literary achievement, and few would guess the name of the country.

This is Venezuela, whose new president, Romulo Gallegos, has been called "the first great novelist of Latin America." The new foreign minister, Andres Eloy Blanco, holds almost equally high rank as a poet.



Looks Like a "May" or "May Not" Day.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Creeping Paralysis Is Baffling Disease

A DOCTOR'S life has many grim moments, but none is so difficult to face as a diagnosis of the disease called multiple sclerosis or creeping paralysis.

The doctor knows a number of things that he can tell the patient. He can say the disease attacks the central nervous system with insidious but relentless effect, that it raises havoc with the victim's bodily functions, that it is progressive, that its cause is unknown and that no cure has yet been discovered.

We are witnessing a great concentration of public interest in heart disease, cancer, polio and other enemies of human beings. Recent investigation has begun to bring out, in a few scattered checks in this country, that M. S. is perhaps as common as polio. In some European neurological institutes, it is more common than any other disease affecting the nervous system.

The M. S. victim knows it all began with slight impairments of motion, that these troubles spread to the hands, arms and legs, that vision became tricky and that the voice from time to time blurred and thickened.

The victim knows, further, that the invasion also affects the normal activities of several internal organs.

The doctor knows that case histories show that death seldom comes with the disease itself. Flashes of recovery sometimes occur, and improvement may be noted for some time, but generally the course of things moves downward into helpless immobility.

* * *

Progressive Stages.

THE ATTACK differs from that of polio. That disease strikes suddenly and maims, but ordinarily it is not progressive. The victim, as in the case of F. D. R., can settle for what nature spares. Life, conditioned by limited motion, can go on. In M. S., the enemy stays, the war is truceless, and the mind must grapple with the dread of new attacks.

If all the devils had met in council, they could not have conceived a greater affliction than this trick that nature has produced.

In the current Reader's Digest is an article about M. S. by the sharp pen of Paul de Kruif. He does not minimize the terror of the disease, but he opens a small window of hope. There is no cure, but there can be helpful treatment in the field of rehabilitation.

Henry J. Kaiser, jr., himself a victim for the past 13 years, has been arousing interest in the West. Dozens of rehabilitation centers will ultimately be essential in building even a small measure of help for the many victims of the disease.

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society, whose office is at the Academy of Medicine building in New York City, is the national center for the fight against M.S. This society has a strong medical advisory committee and is promoting basic research in the causes and treatment of the disease.

It particularly seeks membership among patients. It wants to know who and where the victims are. It is gathering funds for approved projects of research. And it is promoting the expansion of public knowledge about the sinister and growing scourge.

The state of medical knowledge of M. S. is about where that of tuberculosis was before Koch discovered the t.b. bacillus in 1882. Let us hope that 66 years will not pass before this new plague is brought under control.

Washington Calling

Truman's New Outlook

By MARQUIS CHILDS

VISITORS who have talked recently with President Truman have come away with the impression of a man who has undergone an important change. He has a new outlook on life and, above all, on his job.

The President today is a man with a mission. He tells his visitors that he must meet the Russian challenge.

"I can't run away now," he says quietly. "I must stay here and see this through.

The doubts and uncertainties of the past are resolved. The change began to be noticeable at the time the President made his speech to Congress calling for a renewal of the draft and for universal military training. Events since then have confirmed the change in his attitude.

The grumblings and complaints about the lack of cooperation from Congress, so frequent in the past, are rarely heard today. Mr. Truman is the good soldier standing firm at his post, conscious of his responsibility to the future.

There may be in this the stubbornness which is an important part of the President's character. But of political guile, or at least conscious political guile, there seems to be none at all. Having resolved his doubts, the President seems relieved and at peace with himself.

This striking change has, of course, a direct bearing on the Democratic convention in Philadelphia now less than three months distant.

It is a reality which is likely to thwart the plans of the busy schemers who want to sidetrack Mr. Truman for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or Justice William O. Douglas.

They have cherished the hope that Mr. Truman would voluntarily step out on the eve of the convention if he saw within his own party an overwhelming demand for a substitute. Meanwhile they are hard at work trying to make sure that such a demand will sweep the party.

* * *

Quite a Difference.

FOR Mr. Truman to step aside voluntarily is one thing. The skids would be greased with warm praise of his gallant effort in an office which he had not wanted from the outset.

To push aside Mr. Truman the good soldier determined to stick to his post, is quite another matter. This would call for a brutal use of the axe in full public view, and it is most unlikely to happen.

Veterans in the party have always been skeptical of the move to shove the President aside. They have considered it amateurish and naive. Now they are beginning to foster the first faint renewal of hope that perhaps Mr. Truman can be re-elected.

This tiny flame flickering in the ashes of despair is based in part on the issue of inflation. A sudden new upward sweep in prices is possible and, some observers believe, even probable. A kind of flash burn running through the economy and searing millions of low-and moderate-income families in September and October could be decisive. The President, so the argument goes, could unload the blame for this flash burn on the Republicans.

Republican majorities are in command of both houses of Congress. Repeatedly the President has called for minimum controls to check inflation. Again and again Congress has ignored the President's plea.

Instead of imposing controls, the Republican majorities cut out nearly $5,000,000,000 in tax revenue, making it likely that defense spending will create a new deficit.

This is the score that the president will read out in his campaign for re-election in the fall. The reaction of the voters could be quite different from what it was in 1946, when the administration got the blame for scarcities and rising prices.

Timely Editorial

A Man of Few Words.

The regretted passing of Gen. William S. Knudsen will bring on the inevitable train of anecdotes, few of which can have more current point with a vociferous political campaign coming up, and a cold war of hot words raging through the world than the great industrialist's explanation of why he preferred to do rather than to say.

"As a lad in a carriage works," he said, "it was my job to put upholstery in place. For this I had to fill my mouth with tacks. After swallowing a few tacks I decided that if I talked while I worked it would be bad for me. Ever since then I have gone about my job, saying as little as possible. In my imagination, at least, I still have a mouthful of tacks." — Detroit News.

Summary of Week's Happenings

ERP Speeds Relief Shipments of Food

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

PAUL G. HOFFMAN settled his burgeoning Economic Cooperation Administration in permanent quarters on five floors of the new Maltico building in Washington as freighters bearing the first relief shipments under the European Recovery Program neared ports in France, Italy and the Netherlands.

The first cargos consist of food to keep Europe going. They are wheat, lard, horsemeat, canned milk, dried fish and coal. Other long range items such as machinery, fertilizers and capital goods will be shipped later.

Hoffman's top aide in coordinating ERP in Europe is W. Averell Harriman, who stepped down as U. S. secretary of commerce to become the "rovinug ambassador" under the Marshall plan. He probably will make his headquarters in Paris.

Harriman, 56, a financier, is the wartime Lend-Lease expediter in London and served as ambassador to Russia and Britain. His appointment was confirmed by the Senate in a rising vote.

The 16 western European nations began to qualify this week for full assistance under ERP by filing "letters of intent", pledging to sign separate greements with the United States. These pacts bind them to trade and recovery measures authorized under the program.

Two-Party Pacts.

Each country receiving aid agrees to make special deposits in its own currency equivalent to the dollar aid furnished prior to signing the two-party agreements.

These earmarked funds will be available for costs of administering foreign aid incurred by the U. S. and for "such other purposes as may be agreed to between the two governments."

The "other purposes" may include currency stabilization, stimulation of productive activity, and development of new sources of wealth under terms of the foreign aid pact.

The letters of intent do not specify how much assistance each country is to receive from the $5,300,000,444 authorized by Congress for the first year.

However Hoffman has prepared for Congress the first tentative breakdown on how the first year's aid is to be distributed.

At Home

Jobs At Alltime Peak.

Employment in America will reach its highest total in history this summer, surpassing last year's record of 60 million jobs, Ewan Clague, Bureau of Labor Statistics commissioner, predicted this week.

March employment was one million higher than in March, 1947, Clague said, and if the normal seasonal increases in construction and agriculture conform, summer employment will reach its greatest peak.

There has been no direct effect yet on the demand for labor by spending for defense or the European Recovery Program, Clague reported. He said, however, that anticipation of these measures has "tended to stimulate buying."

* * *

Refunds for Married Men.

Most of the extra $600,000,000 in tax refunds the government expects to pay next March will go to married couples.

Married and single taxpayers began to experience benefits this week from the tax cut authorized by Congress.

Married persons will get a better break on refunds next March because of the new nationwide community property law and because the new withholding system covers more adequately the total annual tax due from married men than it does from single men.

Single persons earning over $2,860 will find that withholding fails to cover their total tax bill and they'll have to ante up the difference next March. Under the old law, withholding covered their taxes fully on incomes up to $4,900.

* * *

More and More Cars.

Like the little old woman who lived in a shoe, America is getting so many motor vehicles it doesn't know what to do.

Parking and traffic congestion are mounting problems in cities large and small from coast to coast. Nowhere else are municipal growing pains more evident.

Municipal parking lots, parking meters, express streets, elevated roadways and larger and larger police traffic details are a few of the expedients resorted to by harassed planning boards. None are wholly satisfactory because of terrific costs, limited availability of property and the outraged squawks of the motoring public.

The Public Roads Administration reported this week that the nation has about 3,000,000 more motor vehicles than ever before.

* * *

Cooperation Does It.

More than 1,000 volunteers helped to iron flat as a pancake 160 acres of rolling farmland outside Peoria, Ill., for a new civic amusement park.

A 48-hour time limit was set for the job of proving a plumb site.

One hundred and fifteen power shovels, trucks, bulldozers, rollers and other equipment were used on the project, which required shifting of approximately 250,000 cubic yards of earth.

The tract was sloping and hilly with one end 30 feet lower than the other. Machines, gasoline and labor were donated by contractors and labor unions, some of the equipment coming from 100 miles away.

Work started at 7 a. m. and crews worked in six-hour shifts throughout the night under batteries of flood lights. It was completed well ahead of schedule.

Abroad

Royal Example.

London was happy and gay this week in a lavish display of royal pageantry in which, apparently, all Britons revel. It was the silver wedding anniversary of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

The empire capital was decked with flags and pennants. Household cavalry in full dress escorted the gilded royal churches through miles of cheering, waving crowds. At night throngs massed before Buckingham Palace and clamored repeatedly for the King and Queen, who made innumerable appearances on the palace balcony.

The King, 52, and his Queen, five years younger, received hundreds of greetings.

The chief ceremony was a midday service at St. Paul's cathedral.

* * *

Hemispheric Unity.

Delegates to the ninth Pan American conference, anxious to get home, worked long and late. Committees moved back this week into the Capitolio as repairs were rushed on the parley headquarters building badly damaged in the riot of April 9. For two weeks the conference had convened in a crowded high school in a Bogota suburb.

Despite the Bogota riot which disrupted the parleys and almost caused their adjournment, delegates attained most of their goals. Secretary Marshall had flown back to Washington. His place as chief American delegate was taken by Norman Armour.

An organic pack binding the 21 western hemisphere republics was signed in the historic home of Simon Bolivar, South American liberator. The treaty, which includes basic regulations and functions of the Pan American system, brings them within the framework of the United Nations.

The Deadly Platitude

By ELSIE ROBINSON

ONE HEARS much of the deadly effects of morphine and cocaine, of the way in which they stupefy the senses and paralyze endeavor.

They are indeed an insidious curse but there is another curse aboard which is a greater menace to individual and national progress . . . an influence so common that it claims us all as victims. I refer to the deadly platitude.

By this I mean all that class of sticky, sweet sayings which blind us with false hope and drug our rebellions under the camouflage of optimism and faith. Such sayings as "Righteous triumphs" . . . "Every cloud has a silver lining."

How such slogans cheer and beguile us and how they gum up an intelligent analysis of life!

It would indeed be a blissful world if these things were true. But they aren't true and they never will be until we stop believing platitudes and begin fighting for the naked truth.

Honesty ought to be the best policy. But in this present world it is a very dangerous policy. You're apt to get in all kinds of a mess if you go ahead regardless, trusting to honesty to see you through.

That's an ugly fact but it's more wholesome to tell children the ugly facts and to make them try to reform the despicable state of affairs than it is to dope them with false concepts and abandon them to inevitable disaster.

Righteousness ought to triumph but it doesn't. Cowardice, greed and stupidity truumph in its place.

The right man doesn't get elected. He doesn't get elected because we who care for righteousness sit back and expect God to come down and stuff the ballot box for us.

Every cloud ought to have a silver lining, but the lining is usually corroded zinc because we allow it to be and prefer sentimental gab to action.

The right kind of optimism is a good thing but optimism without common sense is a flabby nuisance. And the people who peddle it—and literature is full of them—ought to be soused in molasses until they recant.

We'll never make this world a clean, healthy, happy place to live in until we stop talking delightful drivel and begin to fight for truth.

Vaccines For Children

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

EVERY mother owes a debt of gratitude to medical science for the way in which it has made possible the protection of children against disease. The list of illnesses, formerly taken for granted, which parents today can spare their children — and for so little in the way of trouble and expense —is impressive.

At present it is possible to immunize children against diphtheria, whooping cough, typhoid fever, and smallpox, as well as tetanus or lockjaw. Active immunization means that antibodies are formed in the child's body and remain in large enough amounts to ward off the infection.

Protect Children.

It is also possible to protect children against measles, whooping cough, and a liver disorder known as infectious hepatitis, for a short period of time. This type of protection is called passive protection. Here the antibodies are not developed in the child's own body, but are present in the injected serum. This type of immunity protects the child for only two or three weeks.

Whooping cough is most serious during the first year of life and particularly during the first six months. There has been some question as to how early in life the whooping cough vaccine may be effectively injected.

Dr. Ernest H. Watson, of Ann Arbor, Michigan, thinks it is possible to confer immunity in children even when the vaccine is given as early as the first month, although how long protection lasts, is not definitely known when given this early.

Some investigators believe that the injections should not be given until between the third and sixth months of life. Further study of this question is being carried out.

There is also available at present a combination of vaccines against diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus. Dr. Watson suggests starting this combined vaccine at three months of age, giving one injection a month for three months. Then, at six months, the baby is vaccinated against smallpox.

At 12 to 18 months, he is given a "booster" injection of the combined vaccine, with further "booster" doses every two years until he goes to school. At this time, the youngster is again vaccinated against smallpox.

In many parts of the country, measles is quite prevalent at this time. Unfortunately, as yet there is no method of giving life-long protection against this disease with a vaccine.

Mountain Sheep, Coyote, Bear, Duck Are Pets With Personality

IN THE BLACK HILLS, S. D. —(AP)—A jailbreaking bear, a mooching mountain sheep, a coyote that eats ice cream, a duck that resents being called "Hammerhead" . . .

These are a few of the pets with personality I've met here in the Black Hills, a natural wonderland for animal life.

The mountain sheep—known as "Minnie the Moocher"—and Molasses, the jailbreaking bear, live in the Custer State park, a 128,000-acre tract in which roam some of the world's largest buffalo, deer and elk herds.

Minnie, who by nature should be wild and shy, is the park's biggest handout artist She makes morning and afternoon calls on 15 families living along Grace Coolidge creek and she isn't a bit sheepish about asking.

★

Molasses is a two-year-old bear with a Houdini touch. She disappeared from her cage one night. Three days later the keepers found her back inside again. By watching they found she had learned a way to twist her large head through the bars and then slither free

Now Molasses is in a brown study—a brown black bear study - trying to figure out a way to beat past a new electric wire strung around her cage

In Deadwood "Wild Bill Hickok's last resting place—Fred Bonsch, son of a pioneer family, has hand-raised "Tootsie," a coyote now a year old.

Fred and his wife, Esther, treat this odd pet as gently as a child. At night Tootsie sleeps on their bed and looks forward to her regular weekend treat—a double dip of ice cream.

Friends think in time she will revert to the wild, but Fred doesn't. She roams at will during the day. The wild coyotes in the hills, however, won't answer her howls or have anything to do with her. They don't like a coyote that wears any man's collar.

Donald, the duck that doesn't like being called "Hammerhead," is the chief joy of Bernice Musekamp, a robust lady whose picturesque vocabulary, skillet skill and battles with tax collectors are legendary in the Black Hills.

Donald is a king of "watch duck." He quacks and pecks at Mrs. Musekamp at night to awaken her if she hears a prowler

"He's just like a dog that way," she said

Donald bows formally when asked to say, "Howdy do." He wears a red jacket but hates it because it restrains his wings. So he pecks at the buttons until it comes unfastened.

I expressed some doubt that a duck cared what name you called him, and was invited to "try and see."

"Hi, you old 'Hammerhead' I jeered "How's old Hammerhead?"

★

Donald's head shot up. The tempo of his quacking became faster. He waddled over, hissing and quacking and pecked vigorously at my shins with his blunt bill. He quit only after I apologized three times.

In these mountains, podner, you got to smile when you call a duck a hammerhead.

Barrymore's Gone, But Stories About Him Still Linger on Earth

THERE'S REASON—One of John Barrymore's plays tried out in Hartford. To help the reviews someone suggested a cocktail party for the press.

"Why a cocktail party?" asked the show's angel. "Is that the only way to get the critics to meet Barrymore?"

"It's the only way," said Jack's manager, "to get Barrymore to meet the critics"

★

Barrymore was asked: "What's the best acting you ever did?"

"Looking for a job in Hollywood," he sighed, "and pretending I didn't need it."

The return of Beatrice Lillie via "Inside U. S. A." tomorrow night reminds the colyum of one of her jests with a steward on the "Queen Mary."

★

Robert Merrill, the Met. star, was telling an opera critic one of his first jobs was at Youngs Gap Hotel (in the Catskills) serving meals.

"Oh," said the critic, "in those days you were a singing waiter."

"In those days," sighed Merrill, "I was a waiting singer."

The critic looked pained, and the exec said: "Hope I didn't hurt your feelings."

"No," Gabriel replied, "but because of that remark, my poor grandfather retired to an early grave—to escape the boredom."

"How much?"

"Always a little more than you've got."

Herman found the body along the cowpath as he was taking cows to pasture.

Deputies said Coroner D. C. Lavender had termed the death a suicide. No notes were found to indicate a motive.

Donald, a freshman in Lucas high school, was born Nov. 5, 1932, in Crawford county. The family came to Mansfield about three years ago and a year ago moved to their present home

Appleseed Student Concerts Draw 1,400

Eight hundred Mansfield parents and friends heard the Johnny Appleseed band and orchestra present their annual musical program last night. A student audience of 600 heard a preview of last night's concert at 10 a. m. yesterday.

Meanwhile, 300 persons heard the second of two concerts given by the Sen. or high school band and orchestra in Senior high auditorium last night.

While the Senior high concerts did not come up to expectations, E. L. Channell said today that the Boosters club and Band Parents club at least has a definite goal at which to aim.

"The concert last night was much better than the first night "Channell said. "While we took in a total of only about $300 we'll know better how to plan next year's concert."

The sponsoring groups had hoped to raise at least $1 500 toward maintenance of the Senior high band. The concerts had been scheduled in lieu of a "tag day" event.

SALUTE BROADWAY

Directed by Miss Jeanne Worley, music instructor at Johnny Appleseed, the orchestra and band presented a "Salute to Broadway" theme, which included many of the popular musical comedy and dance tunes of recent years.

The program opened with Diana Hale singing the song "Salute to Broadway" and continued through a series of orchestra, band, and specialty numbers.

Specialty tunes included numbers by a trumpet quartet, Billy Walls, Harold Rice, Roger Feneman and Russell Keck, and a clarinet trio, Tommy Goodheart, Joan Peppard and Nelaura Orr.

Juanita Hammett, Joan Pitman, Lemoyne Morr and Charles Huston presented a brass quartet, of "Peggy O'Neil" and "When I Get Too Old to Dream," by Romberg The fourth number was played by a saxophone duet, Herbert Kronenfeld and Bill Griffin, presenting an Irving Berlin Medley.

Rumors Denied By Chief

Eligible to Quit In June

Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab doesn't plan to retire when he completes 23 years with the police department early in June.

The chief told the News-Journal yesterday afternoon that rumors of his retirement were unfounded.

"I think our police department is making progress and I'm happy where I am," he said.

Schwab hinted vaguely at retirement in March when he said he had received an offer of a job that paid twice his salary as chief.

Rumors that he would retire have grown since then. Some of them were based on reports that pressure was being applied by gambling interests and "politicians" to get him out.

DENIES 'HEAT ON'

Schwab yesterday denied flatly that there was any "heat" on him to retire.

"I'm afraid I'd get pretty angry if anybody did try to 'pressure' or bribe me," he said.

Schwab became chief last June 1 following the retirement of Meade K. Bates. He had been a member of the police department since 1924 and was a captain for five years preceding his appointment as chief.

Police department members are eligible to retire on pension after 23 years of service.

Lost-Billfold Trick Costs Women $46

Old as time, but always new to some unsuspecting person, the "game" of "I'll split the contents of this billfold if you don't report it to police," cost Mrs. May Robert, 384 Marshall avenue, $46 yesterday.

Standing at Fourth and Main street yesterday Mrs. Roberts was drawn into a phony conversation by a woman, who, upon the proper signal, called Mrs. Robert's attention to the fact that a third woman was picking up a billfold.

The third woman promised to split the take if they promised not to tell. Then claiming she had to "get some paper signed," the billfold finder and her partner left, after Mrs. Roberts gave the former $46 as a sign of her good faith.

Mrs. Roberts waited in vain, her gullibility costing her $46.

UE Group Told 'Keep Trying'

Meeting shortly after their contract with Ideal Electric expired, the shop committee of Local 758, United Electrical Workers, CIO, last night was instructed by the union membership to resume negotiations with the company officials.

Higher wages and "other economic issues" will be discussed, Arthur Wernick, business agent for the union, said. He added that almost 100 per cent of the membership had pledged "full support to the committee in order to obtain a wage increase."

The union met, Wernick said, after the company had refused a wage increase. Contract with the company expired at midnight Thursday.

2 Teen-Age Boys Flee County Juvenile Detention Home

Two teenagers escaped from the juvenile detention home at the Salvation Army last night, following church services there.

Ralph Carroll, county juvenile officer, said the boys, 13 and 14, had gone to church services with Mrs. William Jones, wife of the commanding officer of the Salvation Army.

The 13-year-old boy, apprehended Friday, was held as an habitual truant. The boy, who has been in juvenile court before, apparently planned the escape, Carroll said.

The other boy, who is 14, had been held in the detention home for three weeks, until a place could be made for him at the Bureau of Juvenile Research in Columbus. The boy has been in juvenile court before and was apprehended the last time as an habitual truant. Carroll said the boy would have been taken to Columbus early next week.

Mrs. Jones told Carroll her attention was distracted momentarily and when she looked around the boys had disappeared, either escaping through a window or by a door.

She said a pin had been removed from the door of the room where the boys were held and apparently they had planned to escape.

Quits TWA Presidency

Lamonte T. Cohu has resigned, effective June 1, as president of Trans World Airline, he announced Friday.

Cohu said he was leaving the company because he had "completed the job I undertook last year."

"As the oldest TWA director in point of service, I accepted the responsibility in April 1947 of trying to lead the men and women of TWA onto firmer ground, following the resignation of TWA's then top managment," Cohu said. "I think progress has been made to the point where TWA is an integrated team."

Cohu became president of TWA in April 1947. TWA losses in the three-months period preceding his election totalled $5,723,523."

Between March 1947 and March 1948, TWA revenue increased $21,000,000 or 37 per cent. Expenses, despite increased operations, rose only $13,000,000 or 18 per cent.

100,000 Fans Await Post Time at Churchill Downs

Six Horses Answer Call of Derby Bugler

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE.—(AP)—It's Kentucky Derby day again in Louisville, and six spry colts are scheduled to take off flying about 5:30 o'clock (EST) this afternoon to settle a few pressing questions for a roaring crowd of 100,000.

The city is crowded, everybody waiting for the big show. Possible showers are forecast.

GALEDO SCRATCHED

Seven names were dropped into the entry box yesterday for the $100,000 three-year-old classic, but C. A. O'Neil's Galedo bounced right out again in a late afternoon scratch apparently because chances of a muddy strip are remote.

This was just incidental for a couple of calf brothers from Calumet farm named Citation and Coaltown remain the major attraction. So much so the Churchill Downs management has ruled there will be no place and show betting.

There'll be no brotherly love lost when Warren Wright's steppers break out of the gate to see which can get there faster. Wright said both jockeys, Eddie Arcaro with Citation, and Newbold Pierson aboard Coaltown would be sent out to win for dear old Calumet. He didn't care which got there first just so one of them brought home the $83,400 pot, value of the race with six starters. This will be the smallest field since six ran in 1907.

FOUR AFTER UPSET

It might be well to mention the four other pretty fair country horses who have more than an outside interest in the classic.

Probably everybody in Louisville can spell their names correctly by now—Ben F. Whitaker's My Request, William L. Brann's Escadru, R. W. McIlvain's Billings and Mrs. John Payson Adams' Grandpere.

It would be rude indeed if one of the four upstarts should shove his nose under the wire first. The grandstand probably would fall down. So would most in the crowd who will make Citation and Coaltown the shortest priced favorite since the Derby was invented in 1875. But oldtimers around here say anything can happen on Derby Day.

Arcaro has announced he will donate half his winnings—if any—to Mrs. Al Snider, widow of the Calumet jockey who would have been up on Citation had he lived. Snider was lost at sea during a Florida fishing trip last winter. Owner Wright will match the donation of Arcaro who will be trying for a new record of having had four Derby winners.

DODSON IS MAD

Doug Dodson who quit Calumet in a huff when Snider was put on Armed in the Widener handicap at Hialeah in February will have the mount on Mr. Request winner of last Saturday's Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

Escadru will be ridden by Arnold Kirkland who like Dodson has had two previous Derby horses out neither a winner. Aboard Grandpere will be Johnny Gilbert making his fifth try for a winner in the Kentucky classic. Pierson and Mel Peterson who will be up on Billings are taking their first crack at a Derby.

Jock Pierson Lost 2 Inches In Accident

By LAWTON CARVER
(NNS Sports Editor)

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Newbold LeRoy Pierson used to be five feet six inches tall until a horse fell on him in one of his 59 spills and he now stands only five feet four and a half inches.

He may be the biggest little man in riding circles come dusk this evening for he will be aboard the flying Coaltown in the Kentucky Derby and it may be the beginning of a saga.

Some observers insist that Coaltown a record breaker already will begin to make people forget the great horses of the past late this afternoon.

WILL BEAT CITATION?

There are those who say he will beat his running mate Citation whether the track is fast or gumbo and that he not Citation, is the one the rest much catch.

Nothing could be sweeter for Pierson a natural 112-pounder who has spent 16 of his 30 years in the saddle mostly in the half-mile bull rings on various leaky roof circuits.

He has never ridden in the Derby before, and can hardly believe that he is in the $100,000 run for the roses and a place in the racing archives.

If he wins it he wants his home town to get its due credit. He was listed as being a native of San Antonio, Texas, but said that wasn't right and added with the unmistakable drawl of the south west:

I'M FROM TEXAS

"I'm from Artesia Wells. Texas which is right close by San Anton' but not the same thing. It's smaller—just a railroad depot and a couple of stores with a post office in one of them. Yes I've been riding since I was a baby and on the race tracks since I was about 14 years old.

Pierson has been riding for Calumet farms more than a year and is regarded as an honest game and willing craftsman when he takes the jockey's hunch backed half-sitting stance on a horse's withers.

22 BROKEN BONES

The riding kid from down Texas way almost never got this far. In 59 spills he suffered an astonishing 22 broken bones including a crushed vertebrae which lopped one inch and a half off his height.

His nose was broken four times making it large and scarcely recognizable as a nose about which he remarked:

"With these noses either Arcaro or I should be able to get by on a nose today. Two hard nut noses to ride as an entry but I go mine the hard way by plowing it into the race tracks."

Eddie Arcaro has the mount aboard Citation the other half of the Calumet entry and the two bull tea colts will break from the starting gate side by side. Citation is in the No. 2 slot and Coaltown No. 7.

Feller, Lemon to Go In Detroit Series

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau had his "one-two" pitching punch primed for the Detroit Tigers today as the unbeaten Cleveland Indians returned home for a two-game series with the hapless Bengals.

The two "Bobs," Feller and Lemon, have hurled four of the Indians' six straight victories and Feller contributed to a fifth by his relief appearance against the Chicago White Sox last Monday.

Feller takes the mound today and Lemon will face the Tigers tomorrow.

According to Boudreau's present plans Feller and Lemon will pitch the second and third games of the series with the Athletics in Philadelphia next Wednesday and Thursday. They both will face the Boston Red Sox over the week end and they both may twirl in the three-game series against the Yankees in New York. The revised pitching schedule was caused by postponement of yesterday's game in St. Louis against the Browns because of rain. Actually a half hour before game time when the Tribe caught an early train for Cleveland the skies were overcast but the field at Sportsmans Park was dry as a bone.

Several Mansfield shooters will participate in the shoot which begins at 10 a. m. Sunday in Sandusky. Entries close at 2 p. m. and the shoot is 100 targets at 16 yards for a Lewis class purse.

Jockey Suspended For Careless Ride —But Horse Won

NEW YORK—(INS)—Jockey Eric Guerin who rode Jet Pilot to victory in the Kentucky Derby last year had a sad anniversary today as he began a 10-day suspension inflicted by stewards of the Jamaica race track.

Guerin was sidelined for a careless ride aboard Mr. McGregor on Thursday. Ironically the horse did not lose but won the race.

Heston to Hurl for T. and L. Tomorrow

Jack Heston and Loren Tischer will form the battery for Mansfield T and L Tavern in their opener against the Leesville P-Os tomorrow at Liberty park.

Game time has been set for 2:30 p. m. Dudley is slated to pitch for Leesville.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Locke Protects Four-Stroke Lead

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Bobby Locke protecting a four stroke lead kept a wary eye on young Skip Alexander today in the national Capital open golf tournament's third round.

The knuckled South African fired brilliant rounds of 65 and 66 the first two days for a 131 total 13 under par. Alexander from Mid Pines, N. C. shot a 69 Thursday and then matched Locke's 66 yesterday for 135.

Is Fined $50

COLUMBUS—(AP)—First Baseman John Douglas of the St. Paul Saints of the American Association today was fined $50 by League President Frank C. Lane for using extremely abusive language toward Umpire Harry King, and failure to leave the field immediately when ejected by the umpire.

Mansfield Trackmen Shut Out

CLEVELAND (NS)—Cleveland East Tech high school put a convincing claim in today for the city's top track honors after snaring the West Tech relay for the second straight year.

The Tech Thin-Clads scored 29 points to edge host West Tech which tallied 26. Central was third with 23.

Akron South tallied 8½ points while the only other visiting team Mansfield, failed to score a point.

Only pole vault and broad jump teams from Mansfield entered. Today a full squad of Tyger trackmen will compete in the Newark relays.

Brown Clinic 'Unbelievable'

CLEVELAND—(AP)—John (Ox) Dagrosa Temple university line coach and former Holy Cross head football mentor approved the Cleveland Browns third annual grid clinic today as the biggest thing of its kind.

Imagine a gang of football coaches (more than 1,100) flocking together for a clinic like this said the ex Holy Cross tutor. It's the biggest thing of its kind I've ever seen.

This Cleveland Browns organization reminds me of big industry, he continued. Paul Brown has set up his system on a production basis all down the line. He has brought into professional football something the pro game never had before—complete organization."

Big Car Races Open Tomorrow On Newark Oval

NEWARK—The stage is set for a spectacular opening of the 1948 professionally sanctioned big car auto racing season at the Jones Speedway east of Newark Sunday.

Mansfield's Fred Wills Rolls 641 In ABC to Lead Ohioans In Minor Events

DETROIT, Mich.—Fred Willis of Mansfield cracked a 641 series to pace a contingent of Ohioans in the minor events of the American Bowling congress tourney here. A split in the second game dropped Willis to 186. His other counts were 234 and 221. Johnny Hildreth sandwiched a 179 between games of 204 and 213 for a prize winning 596 tally.

Hildreth and Joe Lain teamed to total 1124 in the doubles — which should also qualify in the extensive prize fund.

DETROIT—(AP)—The American Bowling Congress 45th annual tournament had a new team leader today after Washington Shirts of Chicago pushed its way to the top with 3007.

Members of the Windy City team which nosed out Cavolis of Cleveland by a five-pin margin will be gunning for more laurels in minor events today.

They opened their team scoring with a terrific 1056 series then slipped to 994 and 957. The Ohio quintet has led since March 28 with 3002.

The Wolverines blanked the Buckeyes 3 to 0 in the first of a two game series at Ann Arbor yesterday. The victory gave them five straight conference wins and bounced the Ohioans into second place with a four and one record.

City Women's Federation, Sisterhoods to Meet Friday

Discussion Scheduled At Session

Protestant, Jewish Groups to Meet

A practical demonstration of fellowship among church women of the city will be given next Friday afternoon when members of the Federation of Protestant church women and the two Jewish Sisterhoods of the city join for a forum discussion and program at the Central Methodist church.

The two Sisterhoods are from the Temple Emanuel and the B'nai Jacob congregation.

A preliminary meeting at 1 p. m. will be held for the transaction of business. Officers will be elected. Reports will be made at the Fellowship program, which starts at 2 p. m.

A worship service will open the day's meeting. This worship program will consist of an organ prelude by Mrs. Harvey Lisle, who will serve as organist for the day; a prayer by Mrs. Moshe V. Goldblum; solo, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," by Mrs. Robert Donnan, and devotional reading by Mrs. Earl Kochheiser. Group singing of the hymn, "These Things Shall Be" will close this phase of the service.

The program proper will start with the introduction of the speakers by Mrs. Ralph McGraw, president of the Mansfield Federation of Church Women. She and Mrs. Martin Waisbren, are co-chairmen for the day.

SINGS SOLO

The solo preceding the forum discussion, will be given by Claude Sheffield, accompanied by Mrs. H. F. Mills.

Rabbi Bertram Korn, who is serving the Temple Emanuel as pastor, will bring greetings from his congregation. That will be followed by a panel discussion on the subject, "Every Child Is My Child," by Rabbi Goldblum, pastor of the B'Nai Jacob congregation, and Rev. John G. Gensel, pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran church.

Following their talks, the two will lead a general forum discussion. The offering will be divided three ways, for the national, state and local Councils of Church Women.

Following the program, tea will be served in the church parlors.

"All women of Mansfield are invited to this program and tea," Mrs. McGraw said yesterday. "To date there are women of 20 Mansfield churches affiliated with the Federation here and we hope to have at least several hundred persons at the meeting."

The Golden Gift of Friendship — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—I Samuel 18-20; 31; II Samuel 1.

After David had slain the Philistine giant, Goliath, King Saul took him into his own household, and Saul's son, Jonathan, and David swore eternal friendship, Jonathan giving David his robe, girdle and sword.

Saul feared David, however, because the Lord was with him and the people loved him, and he sought to kill him. While David hid, Jonathan softened Saul's heart toward his friend for the time being.

Again fearing for his life, David hid, while Jonathan warned him by a prearranged sign. He shot the arrows beyond the boy who was sent to pick them up, and David fled once more into a long exile.

Years later the Philistines again attacked the Israelites, and defeated the latter. Jonathan and Saul were killed, and David mourned deeply for his friend.

MEMORY VERSE—I Samuel 18:1.
